What's New In Free Hearing Test?

Hearing tests are a useful way to determine if your ears are functioning properly. This app gives you the tools to conduct basic hearing tests by playing back sounds of varying frequency and amplitude settings. You can run tests using the entire range of frequencies (20 Hz to 20,000 Hz) for individual or both ears. Two intuitive slide bars allow users to control the frequency and amplitude parameters employed and stepwise buttons can be used to fine-tune the frequency. Once a sound is played, users must press the Audible button as soon as they hear it; alternatively, if nothing is heard, the Inaudible control should be used. The program automatically records the results and a chart is also generated in real-time. The "amplitude by frequency" graphic is a simple representation of the test readings and users can choose if individual ear results are drawn or not. An automated test that shuffles sounds is also available and users can customize the playback speed for improved results. Once satisfied with their analyses, users can export textual results to CSV files and graphic audiograms to PNG documents. An easy to use hearing tester with adjustable parameters and options to export analyses to CSV and PNG formats. Hearing tests are a useful way to determine if your ears are functioning properly. basic hearing tests by playing back sounds of varying frequency and amplitude settings. Generate more accurate results Instead of playing back test sounds using the default playback speed, this app allows users to select any available parameter. Playing back tests with different speeds also provides more accurate results since sounds of different frequencies reach your ears at different times. All
